Example of Increasingly Independent Presentation
Accommodations

Less independent

Text read by another person directly to the person who needs it

Text read by another person onto an audio tape, so the person who needs it can listen and repeat at any time

Recorded book or “book on tape” purchased or borrowed for use by person who needs it

Text scanned onto computer and person who needs it uses text-to-speech software to read it independently

More independent

Digital text is purchased and student who needs it has independent access on a computer